TRAVEL ASSISTANCE COMPANY ON CALL INTERNATIONAL TODAY COMPLETES EVACUATION OF 65 CUSTOMERS FROM EGYPT

President and CEO Michael J. Kelly Available for Interviews

Salem, NH (January 31, 2011) – As a result of the political crisis in Egypt, On Call International today evacuated a total of 65 customers, including a mix of students, business and leisure travelers, from Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt. The first flight out of Cairo has landed in Athens, Greece where On Call International has arranged accommodations and is coordinating flights back to various states in the U.S. The second flight has departed Alexandria and will bring customers to Prague where On Call will again, arrange lodging, and coordinate travel back to the U.S.

“We consider our efforts in this political evacuation a home run for our customers and our company,” said Michael J. Kelly, President and CEO of On Call International. “We were successful in rounding up our customers stranded in Egypt and providing them with safe and secure ground transport through, what is essentially, a war zone to the airports and ultimately getting our passengers in the air, out of Egypt and on their way back to the U.S.”

Mr. Kelly is available for interviews to discuss in greater detail the logistics and challenges of the evacuation efforts in Egypt and the benefits of having travel assistance.
