

On Call appoints directors

US-based On Call International has announced the appointments of Jim Hutton and Bruce Kirby to the company's newly formed board of directors. Jim and Bruce join On Call at a critical juncture in the company's growth as it continues to expand its portfolio of corporate services in response to rising demand. Jim, former chief security officer and director of global security for Procter and Gamble, will spearhead the development of On Call's global intelligence capabilities, while Bruce, president of MediTRAVEL, will oversee the expansion of On Call's full corporate travel risk management portfolio. Michael Kelly, CEO of On Call International, commented on the appointments: "We are pleased to tap into the vast experience, networks and strategic insights of both Bruce and Jim as we continue to expand our portfolio to meet the needs of corporate clients."
